

intelligent lives

OPENING DOORS

In honor of #NativeAmericanHeritageMonth, our partners at @IntelligentLives project invite you watch and share @DanHabib's new, free short film, "Dream Out Loud," which is empowering students at Pine Ridge (SD) Reservation to be entrepreneurs. Go to <http://bit.ly/ILTransitionFilmsPartners> to view the full film, plus three other short documentaries that show how to Open Doors to college and careers for students with disabilities. #IntelligentLives #OpeningDoors

Dan Habib, Filmmaker and Project Director, University of New Hampshire Institute on Disability, presents four short, FREE films on effective practices in postsecondary transition for young adults with disabilities These films were funded in part through NDCPD's financial support.

The first film we are sharing is called Dream Out Loud, which captures entrepreneurship development at the Pine Ridge (SD) Indian Reservation.

These films will become important resources for transition planning, professional development, teacher training, workforce development and general public awareness. Outreach is focused not only on schools and families, but also on employers/business associations and organizations that work with youth (such as Boys and Girls Clubs and Vocational Rehabilitation).

<https://www.facebook.com/intelligentlives/videos/361659714581892/>