

"This is so awesome. No one has ever talked about my son like this, in such a positive way."

- Mother of a job candidate

"I waited 10 years to get a job. I wish I had the voice I had now."

- Job candidate

"Working has had a significant impact on the individuals we serve. We have observed that behaviors that were previously a concern have substantially decreased since they started working in the community. Working and being a part of a team has given them self-confidence and a purpose for each day. People are happier when they're working and making an impact."

- Agency lead

How do you feel about hiring people with disabilities?

"It's just like working with anyone else. You have to find their strengths and what they can do and treat them like everybody else."

- Employer

What would you tell other businesses?

"You never know what you're going to get when you're hiring anyone, so you just have to give them a shot because they're just like everybody else, trying to make some money."
